

THE MTSU HOLOCAUST STUDIES CONFERENCE PRESENTS

REMAPPING HOLOCAUST STUDIES TEACHING AND RESEARCH IN GLOBAL CONTEXT

How can scholars guide students in making connections between the Holocaust and issues of racism, antisemitism, and colonialism while recognizing what was singular about the Holocaust? What are the challenges of teaching Holocaust Studies in the face of shrinking space for the liberal arts and calls to decolonize university curricula? How can scholars ensure that students receive a deeper understanding of both the Holocaust and the non-Western world? Dr. Grossmann's keynote address will engage with these questions and others at the heart of remapping Holocaust Studies.

Thursday, September 22, 2022

10:30 AM - 12:15 PM

MTSU Student Union Ballroom

Open to all MTSU students, staff, and faculty

Sponsored by the Holocaust Studies Program, College of Liberal Arts,
Middle Tennessee State University

For more information, contact hologen.conference@mtsu.edu

Dr. Atina Grossmann

Professor of History
The Cooper Union

Atina Grossmann is the author of many publications and has received numerous fellowships to support her research. In academic year 2022-23, she will be the Ina Levine Invitational Senior Scholar at the Mandel Center of the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum.